Nothing to Wear

Fast, Easy Way To a New Dress

MARY BROOKS PICKEN Newspaper Enterprise Assn. At some time all of us experience the shock of finding we have nothing suitable to wear — to a wedding, a special dinner party or other special occasion. With the aid of a new scarf, a new stole or by shortening a hemline, you can often put new life into a dress you have. But if not, then take action—make a new dress right away. But, please, make it as an expert would.

Begin with fashion. Your dress needs to be right in line, color, fabric, workmanship. Don't start now until you are sure of these points. Browse in the shops, look at good fashion window displays, see the clothes the well-dressed women are wearing. Haunt the shops until you have acquired real inspiration. Then, and then only, are you ready. Find a pattern that you know will be becoming to you. Go to the best shop in town.

Look only at the good fabrics. Buy a good linen rather than a sleazy silk, a sheer wool instead of a boardy silk, a good, easy-care fabric rather than a cheap cotton. Search for your dream fabric. Buy your fabric, thread, everything you need. Make yourself incommunicado for a day or two. Then put your best effort into making your best dress. Don't start a dress without visualizing how it will look when finished, for it is much easier to create when you have an image in your mind of what you are creating. Cut and stitch as though you were an artist drawing a picture. Press as though you were molding a line in a piece of sculpture. Put your facings and hems in perfectly. Don't sew a price tag in your dress. When you want it to be so perfect, make it look expensive or custom-made: Your friends will say — "What a lovely dress!" — not "Where did you buy it?" If you want a stole to revive a dress you have or to accessorize a new dress, you can have one easily. Make a stole 2 1/4 to 2 1/2 yards long. Line with the same fabric as the dress, but in white. Allow lining to extend 2 to 3 inches on each side. Make your dress in one of these combinations — new ginger-brown linen with white, bright navy with white, black with white, pale yellow with brown. All are good color combinations for spring '64.

POLLY'S POINTERS Wash Picks in Strainer

By POLLY CRAMER Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR POLLY—After a party, drop your plastic tidbit picks into a strainer and slip the whole thing into hot sudsy water. Swish back and forth, and dry. The strainer keeps these elusive small pieces from disappearing.—JOE. GIRLS — Another practical man to help us.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I want to pass on the busy mother's resolution that I made for the coming year. Every day I do an extra little five-minute job, the kind that seldom got done in my house. Here is a typical list made for one week: Monday—After washing the dishes, take down the kitchen fixture bulb and globe and wash them. Tuesday—Wipe out the kitchen silverware drawer. Wednesday—While scrubbing the kitchen floor, use the damp cloth to remove dust under the tabletop and chair seat. Thursday—Throw away leftovers and straighten medicine chest. Friday—Sort out cards and letters that were interesting six months ago but are now outdated. Saturday—Put clean paper in my son's dresser drawer just before I put away his freshly washed clothes. Sunday — Relax — and yes, write that long-delayed letter to Aunt Mary. After 365 days of this I will have a much neater home.—R. M. H.

DEAR POLLY—If you have a little boy who likes to take things apart and try to put them together again, give him an old clock that no longer keeps time and a small plastic screwdriver. He will be busy for hours taking it apart and for days trying to put it together. Who knows, maybe he will fix it.—DOT. DEAR POLLY —To remove dirt and dust from a felt hat so that it looks like new gently rub the entire surface with fine sandpaper. I save leftover pieces of linoleum, cut them to fit and then line my dresser and cabinet drawers. They are permanent, can be wiped off in a jiffy and do not tear like paper.—MISS S. G. DEAR POLLY—Rub a heavy coat of paste wax on your 1964 car license plates. Allow to dry and buff to a high gloss. This helps to preserve the paint from chipping and also keeps them shiny.—M. F.

DEAR POLLY—Do tell your readers not to throw away empty bath powder boxes but to convert them into doll hat boxes or play purses for little girls. Simply make slits on the sides, below the top, run a ribbon through each slit and paste it down on the inside. Bring the ribbons up over the box top and tie in a pretty bow. A flower could also be pasted to the center of the box top. If the box has become a bit water spattered, you can cover it with colored paper or cutouts.—VERA.

FISH STICKS AND BAKED BEANS (3 or 4 servings) Pour 1 can baked beans into a shallow casserole or baking dish. Cover and heat in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 10 minutes. Remove from oven, uncover, and place 1 package (8 ounces) frozen precooked fish sticks in a single layer on top of beans. Then continue to heat uncovered, about 12 minutes longer, or until fish sticks are well browned.

FISH STICK-TOPPED CASSEROLE (3 or 4 servings) 1 package (10 ounces) frozen mixed garden vegetables. 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup. 1/2 cup milk. 1 package (8 ounces) frozen precooked fish sticks. Cook mixed vegetables as directed on package. Drain, if necessary. Place in shallow casserole. Combine soup and milk; stir into vegetables. Cover and heat in a hot oven (425 degrees) 10 minutes. Remove cover and arrange fish sticks in a single layer on top. Continue to heat, uncovered, about 12 minutes longer, or until fish sticks are well browned and crisp on top.

FRESH VEGETABLE AND CORNED BEEF CASSEROLE (6 Servings) 2 cups cooked fresh carrots 1 cup cooked diced celery 2 cups cooked diced potatoes 1/2 cup sliced fresh onion 1 1/2 teaspoons salt 1-8 teaspoon ground black pepper 1 teaspoon marjoram 1/4 teaspoon minced fresh garlic 1 can (12 ounces) corned beef 1-4 cup vegetable cooking water 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted Combine carrots, celery, potatoes, onion, salt, black pepper, marjoram and garlic. Turn half into a 6-cup casserole. Break corned beef into small pieces over the vegetables. Cover with remaining vegetable mixture. Add vegetable water. Top with bread crumbs mixed with butter or margarine. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes or until done.

NICE TO HAVE AROUND

It's always fun to be with a person who— Is genuinely enthusiastic and optimistic. Doesn't take himself too seriously. Listens with courteous attention and obvious interest when YOU are doing the talking. Knows how to disagree without being disagreeable. Recognizes the line between frankness and rudeness, and never steps across it. Never builds himself up by low-rating other people or their ways. Can admit to being wrong instead of always trying to blame someone else for his mistakes. Does his share of the talking

—but not his share and yours, too. Sees the funny side of things, even when the joke is on him. Can let you tell a story without immediately trying to top it. Can explain something to you without sounding superior, or being pompous.Laughs easily, especially at YOUR wit. Always seems happy to see you, rather than being friendly one time and indifferent the next. Never tries to impress you. Never misses an opportunity to pay you a compliment or to repeat one someone else has paid you. If you have a few friends who measure up to these standards you're lucky, for such people are always nice to have around.
